

ADM Newsletter

Association of Disciple Musicians
Spring, 2010

*It's time to think about
Lexington and Kentucky
Bluegrass country.....*

If you've always wanted to spend some time in the Bluegrass region of Kentucky, then this will be the year for you to not only accomplish that, but to attend the 49th Annual Conference of the Association of Disciple Musicians in Lexington at Central Christian Church. Registration information is available online at the ADM Website, www.adm-doc.org. The conference will begin with the opening worship and reception on Saturday night, July 24 and will conclude with the special closing worship service and lunch on Wednesday, July 28. The new conference format was well received last summer at DePauw University.

Slate of Clinicians.....

Worship – John Opsata and Larry Sivis

Emerging Worship – Andra Moran

Choral – Lynn Gatchell

Organ – Robert Hobby

Handbells – Tim Waugh

The four-day conference will also be filled with many option sessions from which to choose. A complete listing will follow in the pre-conference edition of the newsletter and on the ADM website: www.adm-doc.org

Looking Ahead.....

It's not too early to begin thinking about our 50th Anniversary Celebration in 2011. The decision has been made to return to Ft. Worth where ADM got its start. The conference will be held at University Christian Church and we'll be staying in a dorm just across the street at TCU. The dates for the conference are July 14 – 18, so mark your calendar now and save those dates for this very special conference. Gala Strunk is chairing the planning committee for that conference and welcomes your suggestions: galas@mac.com

Calling all ADM historians....

If you have pictures, articles, or any ADM items that could be included in a 50th Anniversary presentation at our 2011 conference, please gather them up, identify what it is or who's in the pictures, and send it to Brad Burnham, your newsletter editor, at 2831 E. 85th St., Tulsa, OK 74137. Brad and whoever can, will gather in Lexington this summer at least a day early and begin the process of compiling the memorabilia and deciding how best to present it at Ft. Worth. During this summer's conference, there will also be a daily option, "ADM Remembered," you can attend to bring your historical items and help work on the memorabilia. In the meantime, you can also contact Brad at either bradb1007@sbcglobal.net or burnham.brad@unionps.org, if you have suggestions or questions. Anyone planning to attend this summer's conference and doesn't mind the expense of one additional day is welcome to come early and help.

The 2012 Conference has been set for a return to First Christian Church in Tulsa, OK. In spite of the heat back in July of 2008, we had a great conference and the food was exceptional. The hotel less than two blocks from the church is being totally refurbished, and it is the hope of the planning committee that we'll be able to be that close to the church. Tentative dates for 2012 are July 21 – 25.

Keep the ADM website handy for additional news and conference updates.

www.adm-doc.org

Just wanted you to know that when the 2009 conference ended and the post-conference newsletter was sent out, Susan Adam's name was left out of the article about the Planning Council Class for 2013. Along with Shannon Moore, Ruth Moore and Tim Williams, Susan will once again return to the ADM Council.

2009 Conference Revisited.....

Whether or not you were at the 2009 Conference on the campus of DePauw University last summer, you won't want to miss all the fun and learning and sharing that will take place in Lexington in July. And maybe 2010 is just the year for you to reconnect with your ADM family, if you haven't been to a conference in a while.

The bells continue to ring, ding a ling.....

The Past-Presidents continue to return and reconnect.....

The ADM Chorus continues to prepare beautiful music for the final service.....

And, there's always lots of fun and frivolity.....

