2022 CONFERENCE UPDATE

Dear ADM Family and Friends:

The ADM Planning Council regrets to announce the cancellation of the 2022 ADM Conference of Music and Worship scheduled for July 17-22 this summer. Many factors such as the continuing spread of COVID infections, increased fuel and travel costs, and whether to mask or not to mask in social gatherings may have all played a part in a lower than expected and required number of registrants.

If you have already registered, you will receive a full refund and be contacted by the DHM Office in Indianapolis. Please feel free to contact Anne Marie Moyars at amoyars@dhm.disciples.org.

The Council and especially the 2022 Planning Team is incredibly sad to cancel this year's totally planned conference being led by an outstanding group of clinicians and option leaders with another quality ADM experience.

Additional information will be sent and posted on the website, www.adm-doc.org, when decisions are made concerning ADM's future endeavors. In the meantime, please stay connected with ADM via email, through the ADM Facebook page, and with others in the ADM Family!
