FOOD FOR THOUGHT...

The 2021-2022 ADM Council hopes you will give serious thought to registering for and coming to this year's conference to give your support to their efforts in recovering from a two-year absence from ADM conferences and to help rebuild the enthusiastic and congenial family group we so enjoyed for the years prior to 2020. Your help in recruiting new attendees and hopefully new ADM members is vital to the strength and survival of one of the best national music and worship organizations in the country. ADM has such a rich history with the reputation of providing well-known and highly respected clinicians and option leaders at each conference since its first conference in 1962. Yes, this is a year to celebrate!!!!

As always, your efforts in sharing each and every newsletter or flier that you receive with other worship leaders, organists, pianists, directors, handbell ringers, lay members, and anyone involved in the mission of the church is valuable advertising. Thank you in advance for your help!

ADDITIONAL INFORMATION ABOUT THE CONFERENCE AND BEING IN TULSA...

- It's not too late to register for this year's conference at TU. Go to www.adm-doc.org and click on Registration.
- Check out the above Conference Schedule and Option class summaries and begin planning your days. There should be something for all your interests and needs.
- Since it can be hot in Oklahoma in July, plan your wardrobe around very cool and casual attire. There will be lots of water to help keep you hydrated and cooler.
- For those interested, there is the possibility of an Organ Crawl during the free time on Wednesday followed by the group going to dinner together.
- Music packets for the ADM Chorus, Chapel Choir and the two Handbell Groups will be on sale at the Registration Table (details to follow).
- Music for the Small Choir Reading Session will be in booklet format this year at a cost of $5.00/booklet. The Chapel Choir Director is bringing the music for that group with him.
- Suggestions for places to visit and restaurants for dinner during the free time on Wednesday will be available at the Registration Table. At the top of the site suggestions will be the relatively new Greenwood Rising Black Wall Street History Center close to downtown in the Greenwood District.
